

Lunar Gems — Top Picks for the U.S. Market

14 pieces with the best resale potential, with an estimated purchase price and expected U.S. sale price for each.

Prepared 2026-08-11. Prices are ESTIMATES for genuine blue-sheen Ceylon moonstone in sterling silver, benchmarked to the U.S. retail field guide. Compare the "target buy" to Lunar Gems' actual quote.

How to read this: Expected U.S. sale is a realistic online retail range. Target buy price is a fair Sri-Lanka acquisition cost to aim for. Don't pay over is the walk-away ceiling (~40–45% of the low retail). Margins assume you import in bulk — one insured shipment amortised across many pieces (~$8/pc). Bought one-at-a-time, the ~$60 insured-courier minimum wipes out the margin on the cheaper silver pieces, so batch them.

Metal check: LG-14 (yellow-gold ring with a colourless faceted stone) was excluded — it is not moonstone. LG-18 and the LG-22 pendants photograph as yellow gold / vermeil, not sterling; confirm the metal, as it changes both cost and resale materially.

Best hero piece — a full moonstone 'by-the-yard' necklace. BUT it looks yellow gold/vermeil, not silver: if solid gold, retail is $700-1,600+ and cost is far higher. Confirm metal before pricing.

Estimates only, not an appraisal or guaranteed resale value. Asking/retail comparables are reference points; actual sell-through depends on listing quality, photography, and demand. Confirm each piece's metal purity (look for a 925 stamp), stone (natural blue-sheen moonstone vs milky/white), and Lunar Gems' real trade price and export/shipping terms before buying. Assumes genuine sterling silver; solid-gold pieces (e.g. LG-18) carry higher cost and higher resale.
